The Mahonites nominated Wise for Governor.

Secretary Lamar decides that the western cattle trails must be kept open.

Some people talk about being Christians who have not learned to spell charity.

Mrs. Jane B. Harwood, Gov. Marquette's sister, died at Kansas City, Wednesday.

The best thing for democrats to do is to keep cool and to hurl all their bricks at the enemy.

A curiosity at Rockford, Ill., is a young negro with a luxuriant growth of auburn ringlets.

Two hundred of Big Bear's Indians have surrendered to the Canadian troops at Fort Pitt.

To prevent mosquitoes from hatching, oil is thrown into the ponds and standing water of Florida.

The Post, Critic, Republican and Gazette, newspapers at Washington, were burned out Thursday.

State Superintendent Coleman's article on illegal school warrants should be read by all school directors.

Dr. Alexander's article on the spring of 1885 is a carefully prepared one, and will read with interest.

We shall reply to our contemporary, the Post, next week. We have not been able to do so for this issue.

A waterspout burst near Titusville, Pa., carrying off houses and bridges and drowning several head of cattle.

Prof. Charles Kendall Adams, of the University of Michigan, has been elected President of Cornell University.

The new law governing the fencing of railroads and their liability for live stock injured will be found in this issue.

The council proceedings for Monday night will be found on the first page; those of Tuesday night on the fourth page of this issue.

Our candid and honest friend, Jim G. Anderson, "takes the cake" on fish stories, having discovered a species of fish that has four legs.

Sir John McDonald declared in the Dominion Parliament that he believed a general reciprocity treaty would be arranged with the United States.

Fayette Advertiser's "re-union of Shelby's brigade," at Higginville, August 25, will be largely attended by both ex-confederates and federals.

San Francisco is assessed at $171,433,126—$118,353,353 against land and $53,079,773 against improvements—an increase over last year of $7,405,439.

Mr. Jardine's list against Mr. Sheaf failed. The sooner Mr. Jardine gets out of the way of an indignant people the better it will be for him and for the cause of religion.

Title-tattle should be left to peck-toed old women. Men should be wise enough to be considerate of others, not hypocritical, especially if they are so from personal prejudice.

Attorney-General Garland has decided that the government need not receive the Dolphin, and that Mr. Roach may be compelled to refund the money he has already received on account of building her.

The Munster bank of Dublin, Ireland, failed a few days ago. It was considered one of the soundest institutions in the world. It was the Dublin correspondent of the Lafayette County Bank of this city.

It is reported that the Cheyennes are presenting a more peaceable front, and that there is now but little danger of a rising. The energetic action of the government in dispatching troops has probably overawed them.

The coal miners' strike is over. The men began going to work last Monday, when about 40 went to work. To day they have all gone to work. We are very glad of it, as we think it is best for the miners, and we know it is for the town.

A meeting is called by Capt. J. D. Conner, at the courthouse, Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, of all old soldiers, federal or confederate, who intend to attend the Shelby re-union at Higginville. We hope the meeting, next Monday night, will be largely attended.

The branch penitentiary has been located at Kansas City. We think the selection a wise one. As to the criticisms so freely passed upon the inspectors, we know something of the matter, and as the various considerations that were presented to the inspectors cannot be familiar to the public, we think it fair to suppose that they have been governed by patriotic motives.

The Kansas City Journal goes into circulation this because the president is ordered "the commander-in-chief of the army" (Gen. Phil. Sheridan) to the front. The K. C. J. is cracked. The constitutional commander-in-chief of the army is Grover Cleveland, a president. Try something else, if people will be easily reconciled to the idea that the general's place is where there is likely to be trouble. If he don't know his place Mr. Cleveland will not hesitate to tell him where it is.

The Ohio prohibitionists have nominated a state ticket and the Commercial Gazette is wild with rage. In one of its paroxysms it howls out:—"The raid St. John is one of the half-dozens cranks and hoodlums, fools and spite-workers and blatherous lunatics who feel that they are of importance because their unscrupulous and unscrupulous combination defeated Blaine." When we were a young man and a fellow would begin to yell like that, two or three of the boys would sit on each one of his legs and arms, while some one else put one on his head and prepared a dose of bromide of potassium and castor oil.

In this case the symptoms seem had enough to justify those who are sitting on the C. G.'s alleged head for a while. All this is especially bad when it is fore-ordained that the republican party will be swallowed by the prohibition party in the year 1892.

THE TOWNSHIP BOND COMPROMISE.

The proposition to compromise the township bond debts has carried in Lexington, Washington and Sui-Bar townships. We are very glad of it, as we consider the action taken of incalculable value to the entire county. It means the dawn of a better era for us, one free from litigation and contention, in which we can all bend our energies to the development of our material resources. Now all that remains to be done is for the bondholders to keep their word, and to promptly send in their bonds for compromise. We need hardly tell them, and it might not be in good taste to do so, that it will not be wholesome for any duplicity in had faith to be used. And Mr. Skinner can, beside, do himself credit in the matter by keeping his word to do all in his power to arrange the Cochrane Fleming judgment, thereby enabling us to settle up our county debt.

Consul Mason in his report from Marcellus, says of cholera:—"In its choice of victims, cholera is most precise and definite. With rare exceptions they belong to one of the four following classes of persons: Those who have had hygienic habits with respect to food and lodgings; those who are imprudent with respect to eating, drinking, exposure; those weakened and debilitated by alcoholic excess, and those who suffer from chronic digestive weakness or derangement. Among the imprudences which have been observed, the presence of cholera is overbearing to the extent of producing lethargy or indigestion, drinking any liquid so cold as to check the process of digestion, eating raw vegetables in the form of salads, and, in general, the use of raw fruits, unless perfectly fresh and ripe. Drinking cold water or beer after having eaten raw fruit is a direct challenge to cholera, which no person, however strong and healthy, can afford to risk. The susceptibility of drunks to cholera influences is proven by abundant evidence, among which may be cited the sweeping fatality of the disease whenever it attacked the inmates of an inebriate asylum. Anything, in fact, which checks a temporary or chronic nature, which impairs the vigor of the digestive organs, exposes the persons thus weakened to cholera attack." Cholera may not come to this country this year, indeed we have strong hopes that it will not, but it is almost certain to get here by next summer, and it is the part of wisdom to prepare the body to resist it, by temperance and proper living, so much as it is to purify our surroundings.

Dr. L. R. Constock, of St. Louis, has been the subject of the cholera, said:—"Dr. Ferran, of Spain, claims to have produced an attenuated virus which mitigates the cholera miasm. He wants the government to pay him $250,000 for the secret. But he has not proven that vaccination and the varioloid that follows will act as a permanent preventive of cholera. Cholera is believed to be an intestinal trouble, not a blood disorder. People have been known to have cholera more than once. In small-pox, people have but one attack, and the modified form precludes the possibility of suffering from the more severe. But vaccination, while it may produce a modified form of cholera, does not warrant the system against the most malignant type at a later period. We must know the cause to prevent cholera. It is alleged in Russia that epidemics of cholera are never known at points where coal oil exists or naphtha refineries are located. By using distilled water—water filtered and then boiled—and by refraining from meats and spirituous drinks and by maintaining cleanly habits, cholera, it is said, is not likely to visit one. If distilled water were more universally drunk, kidney disorders would be a thing almost unknown. My impression is, that the cholera will not visit us until next season."

Mrs. Octave Pavy writes to Dr. H. M. Richardson, of this city, her uncle, from Geneva Lake, Wis., that the government has just allowed her claim for pay of $40,000. Mrs. Pavy is engaged in literary work and writes that she will reside, at least for a time, at Chicago. Mrs. Pavy is a very bright woman; she was a Miss Lily Saue, daughter of Rev. M. Stone, D.D., of Omaha, and the sad fate of her husband who was the surgeon of the Greely Arctic expedition, and who died June 6, 1884, at Cape Smyth, on Cape Sabine, has won for her the sympathy and kindly feeling of the entire civilized world. Mrs. Pavy paid Dr. Richardson a visit a few weeks ago, and gained good opinions from all our people who met her.

Young men who hesitate to marry because of the expense, should read the article which we print, to-day, on "the lowest sum for which a young couple can furnish a home." We may add to it one remark: If the young man is pure, sober, industrious and kind; if the young woman is gentle, considerate and active; and if they love one another; a young couple can better marry on a hundred dollars, than they could with a furnished brown stone front and a small fortune if they did not have these qualities.

According to a majority vote of experts rendered through the American Architect, the ten finest buildings in this country are Trinity church, Boston; the Capitol at Washington, W. K. Vanderbilt's house, Trinity church, and Jefferson Market Courthouse, New York; State Capitol, Hartford; City Hall and State Capitol, Albany; Sever Hall, Cambridge, Mass.; and Town Hall, North Easton, Mass.

Little Richard Field, son of Richard Field, who was taken sick, Thursday last week. His ailment was an obstruction of the bowels. So obstinate was it that a few days his life was almost despaired of. Dr. Chambers, the physician in charge, called in Dr. Fulkerson in consultation, but the treatment was unchanged. Finally Dr. Griffith, of Kansas City, was sent for, and Dr. Stanley Field, of Kansas City, also came down. The child before they arrived had begun to improve, and the Kansas City physicians complimented Dr. Chambers upon his skillful treatment of a very obstinate and dangerous case, and no change was made. The bowels were moved, and from that time the child continued to improve, until now it is thought to be out of danger. The entire community has an interest in the little fellow's welfare, and it is replied to know that he is in a fair way to get well.

Rev. Mr. King preached to a large congregation at the morning service, "On the Identity of the Church."

His subject in the evening was "Baptism." His handling of both subjects showed careful thought, and that he was perfectly at home, and understood whereof he spoke. PAUL PLY.

ORDER. Miss Maggie Lemon returned to her home in Saline county on Sunday last.

Harvey Smith is a visit to his father, Mr. C. O. Smith. He expects to return to St. Mary's College in September.

Rev. King preached in Corder Sunday morning and evening; subjects in the morning, "The Identity of the Church," and in the evening, "Baptism and the mode."

He spoke with much feeling and handled his subject well, which showed he had studied the arguments pro and con well. We do not propose to notice his points, as they are old and familiar to every one who has any desire to inform himself. He endeavored to preach his own doctrine without prejudice to others, which he did to the best of his ability. We have already said more on this subject than we expected, but let us say this much, that he could not, as an honest man, ignore the claims of the doctrine which he did. We hope the discussion of these subjects will engender no hard feelings in our community. We suppose every man who proposes to be a Christian is honest in his belief.

We took a trip on the road leading from Eldorado by way of Anna, Blackburn and Mr. Leonard. We saw many fields of wheat where there is straw enough to warrant a yield of fifteen to thirty bushels per acre, but as some fields have been threshed that were thought would yield thirty, which turned out only ten bushels, we will wait for further development, but sufficient is known to justify us in reporting the crop very poor, both in quality and quantity; more so than that, if the season is not remarkably favorable, not considering the destruction by the worms, one half of the corn will be almost worthless. Most of the early

GREEN TOWN.

Mrs. Martin Slaughter has returned home from a protracted visit to relatives in Kentucky.

Mr. Harry Roy, of Carrollton, is visiting his uncle, R. H. Benton, Esq., Master Oscar Stover, of St. Louis, is spending the summer with his uncle, Mr. James Enison.

Daniel Exwing, of Pleasant Hill, Cass county, is visiting relatives here. He says Cass county will be represented at the re-union of Shelby's brigade.

The Green town school closed July 3rd. Mrs. Green, if an applicant, will doubtless be re-elected as teacher.

Dr. Maurel and Murphy attended the meeting of the medical men at Higginville, last Monday.

Dr. Robinson who has been quite ill is better.

Messrs. Ford and Slaughter recently purchased of S. K. Ball, 20 head of two and three year old steers, at 4 cents each. The wheat crop is estimated at 25 per cent. of 1884.

Oats were fine, grass fine, corn prospering, not very promising.

Mr. E. T. Thorp recently lost two yearling cattle with symptoms of hydrophobia, or similar symptoms, to the cows of Messrs. Brightwell and Loomis. Is it hydrophobia or a cattle disease?

Thos. B. Wallace, Esq., is visiting his nephew, Louis Mohl, of this place.

Dr. E. A. Taylor and family moved from here to Hutchinson, Kansas, on the 7th of July.

Julius Gerrock, of St. Louis, is visiting the family of Mr. William Loomis here.

Dr. H. F. Becker and family of this city, took a trip to Kansas City one day last week.

Willie Bracklein, who has been attending the school of Pharmacy, at St. Louis, has returned.

A laborer on the farm of Mr. G. Krome, was thrown from a mule one day this week and had an arm broken.

The thermometer rose to 102 degrees in the sun on Wednesday. A number of our fat men say this hot weather was not made for them.

Dr. Klingenberg, of the German Hospital, contemplates putting up a manufactory here. No doubt his scheme will be welcomed by the community.

Mr. F. G. Brockman met with a very painful accident on Monday last. He was working with a mower and got his right hand between the cog wheels, which resulted in crushing four of his fingers very badly.

It is not necessary to state that our town is dull. If this is true, the farmers on the other hand, are all the more busy, and are going to get busy, oats cutting and hay making furnish work for all on the farms.

Believing that the many readers of our valuable paper would be subject to hearing from our town and vicinity, occasionally, we send you these few items, which if of any interest or encouragement to you to write again, and circumstances permit. DICKO.
